

DIGITEL LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

Index page of new Digitel website

Digitel is pleased to announce the opening of our new corporate website. The layout has been completely redesigned to provide a simpler and more interactive user experience. It acts as a one stop portal for all your business communication needs.

It is separated by function, providing corporate pages such as the latest news and contact information in one top level menu, and communications solutions in another. Whether you're looking at buying a new communications system, mobiles, broadband, lines or services, it lays out the options from both a business and functional perspective.

Our pop-out Quick Contacts window takes you directly from the index page to on-line forms to provide a quick, responsive means of contacting our team. We also provide additional context sensitive resources on many pages through a Downloads panel.

Digitel are a single source supplier of anywhere anytime communications. Our end-to end solutions directly help businesses to reduce communications costs, increase operating efficiency and enhance customer service by enabling people to communicate and collaborate more effectively.

For an interview with Tom Cullen or further information, please contact Jane Bonsu on 0151 650 6301.